The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general principles of the theory of the structure of the atom. It is shown that the structure of the atom is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, and that the laws of quantum mechanics are determined by the laws of the theory of the structure of the atom. This is a circular argument, but it is the only way to proceed.

The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many factors which are not yet fully understood.
 The second is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, in which the various factors are constantly changing and interacting with each other. The third is that the system is not a closed one, but an open one, in
